

Northstar Technologies — Employee Handbook

Version 1.0 | Fictional knowledge-base document for the Agentic RAG assignment

1. Company Overview

About Northstar Technologies

Northstar Technologies Pvt. Ltd. is a fictional software and consulting company used as the knowledge base for an Agentic RAG demonstration. The company develops enterprise software, data platforms, and automation solutions for business customers.

Northstar operates from offices in Bengaluru, Pune, Hyderabad, and Delhi, with employees also working remotely. The company values customer focus, technical excellence, respectful collaboration, security, and continuous learning.

Core Values

Employees are expected to demonstrate integrity, ownership, respect, customer focus, and a willingness to learn. Decisions should prioritize customer impact, employee safety, legal compliance, and responsible use of company resources.

2. Working Hours and Workplace

Standard Working Hours

The standard working schedule is Monday through Friday, 9:30 AM to 6:30 PM, including a one-hour lunch break. Individual teams may establish reasonable variations when required by customer projects or operational coverage.

Employees should be available during agreed team collaboration hours and should communicate planned absences or schedule changes to their manager.

Remote Work

Eligible employees may work remotely according to their team's approved hybrid-work arrangement. Remote employees must maintain a professional working environment, protect confidential information, and remain reachable through approved communication channels during working hours.

Employees must not use public computers or unsecured networks to access confidential company systems unless an approved secure connection is available.

3. Code of Conduct

Professional Behavior

Employees must treat colleagues, customers, partners, and vendors with professionalism and respect. Harassment, discrimination, threats, intimidation, retaliation, and deliberate misuse of company resources are prohibited.

Conflicts of interest should be disclosed to the employee's manager or the designated compliance contact as soon as they are identified.

Information Security

Company credentials must not be shared. Employees must use approved authentication mechanisms, protect devices from unauthorized access, and report suspected security incidents promptly.

Confidential documents must only be stored and shared through approved company systems.

4. Benefits and Development

Health and Wellness

Eligible full-time employees receive health insurance coverage according to the company's current benefits plan. Coverage details, dependents, and enrollment deadlines are communicated by the People Operations team.

Learning and Development

Employees may request training, certification, or conference support when the activity is relevant to their role. Requests normally require manager approval and must fit within the team's learning budget.

5. Performance Management

Performance Reviews

Formal performance reviews are conducted twice each year. Managers and employees discuss goals, achievements, development areas, and objectives for the next review period.

Employees are encouraged to request feedback throughout the year rather than waiting for the formal review cycle.

Promotion

Promotion decisions consider sustained performance, role expectations, demonstrated skills, business needs, and evidence of increased responsibility. Completing a training course alone does not guarantee promotion.

6. Employee Responsibilities

Company Property

Company equipment must be used primarily for authorized business purposes and protected from theft or unauthorized access. Employees leaving the company must return company property according to the offboarding process.

Reporting Concerns

Employees should raise workplace, security, compliance, or ethical concerns through their manager, People Operations, or the designated reporting channel. Retaliation against a person who raises a concern in good faith is prohibited.
